

South West Occupational Health Services

Occupational Hygiene Technician

We are an Occupational Hygiene Consulting Company providing services to a diverse range of industries. Multiple AIOH award winners, South West Occupational Health Services are passionate about Occupational hygiene and health, and we seek an enthusiastic Occupational Hygiene technician to join our rapidly growing team.

Duties:

- Atmospheric contaminant and noise monitoring, audits and surveys
- Development and delivery of training packages
- Occupational exposure assessments – qualitative and quantitative
- Use and calibration of Hygiene equipment
- Lighting, ventilation and asbestos surveys
- Respirator and earplug fit testing
- Consultation and communication with workgroups and management
- Technical report writing

Position Requirements:

This position requires a highly motivated and organized person with excellent interpersonal skills. They must be able to work independently, showing initiative and good problem solving and decision making skills. The successful applicant will have a tertiary qualification in OH&S or a science/health related field, and hold a current drivers license. This position requires competency in the use of Microsoft Word and Excel.

Desirable Skills:

Noise officer and ventilation officer qualifications are desirable. Demonstrated experience in the hygiene field is preferred.

The position is full time, based in the WA South metropolitan area, with travel to sites throughout Western Australia required.

A competitive salary package will be offered to the successful applicant.

Interested candidates should email their resume with a covering letter to:

Ethan Norris (Manager)
South West Occupational Health Services
ethan.norris@swohs.com.au
(Mob) 0400 526 709

South West Occupational Health Services
PO Box 605, Mandurah, WA, 6210
Ph/fax (08) 9583 3229
www.swohs.com.au